Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver. If the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirit is depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator not only relieved but cured.

A DREAM OF LONG AGO.

I stand in the land of the Long Ago
  And my heart is light and my mind is free,
And the breezes are soft as the winds that blow
  O'er the isles of the old Ægean Sea.
It is only a dream—would I never could wake
  To the throb and to yearn for the youth time gone;
Would it could last; for the heart must ache
  When the Real comes back and the Dream has flown.

I lie by the river of Long Ago,
  In the golden time of the golden June.
Oh, the grass is sweet, and the river's flow
  Is whispering over the dear old tune
That I hear with a passionate content,
  Tho' my heart's ablaze and my pulse aglow.
But I never dream that this life was meant
  To hold such a pain as this Long Ago.

Only a dreamer, and only a dream;
  But was there ever a dream like this?
Of lilac and roses, and the gleam
  Of a girl's warm eyes, and the clinging kiss
Of a boy's first love—had it been the last,
  As I swore in my fervor it should be so!
Perhaps there would be no sting to the past
  Or pain in this dream of the Long Ago.

—C. G. Rogers in Detroit Free Press.

"It's My Way."

Many years ago Edwin Forrest, the celebrated actor, was in the habit of dining at Windust's, a noted restaurant on Park row, that was a favorite resort of actors and literary men. It usually happened that Forrest would be joined by friends, and that the little group would sit together at one table. On one occasion it chanced that an Englishman with a reputation for conceit and impertinence, who had scraped acquaintance with the tragedian, was one of the group.

Early in the course of the dinner the Englishman began to make criticisms, which he considered pleasantries, about Forrest's conception of certain roles. Encouraged by his own appreciation he gave full play to his humor, and concluded each of his impertinences with, "Pardon my freedom, sir; it's my way."

To the astonishment of all who knew Forrest's irascible disposition he bore the Briton's offensive remarks patiently and seemingly ignored them as far as possible. When, however, the nuts were brought in by the waiter he took several cracked walnuts in his hand, and, walking over to the Briton's place, jocularly snapped them successively in the face of that individual, lightly saying after each shot, "Pardon my freedom, sir; it's my way," and snapped him out of the restaurant.—New York Ledger.

Enthusiastic People at the Theaters.

I suppose most people go to the theater to enjoy themselves. That is what I go for. People are differently constructed, of course, and have different ways of showing their appreciation of the play. I can stand the catcall, the screech, the kick and the clap of the hands, and it does not annoy me much if the man or woman back of me or to one side gives vent to loud guffaws, whether I think the play is funny or not. We are all not built on the same pattern in this respect.

But I would like to know what sort of consolation a certain class gets out of repeating the last few words that an actor says. I have had people sit near me who kept up that sort of thing during the entire play. The words are repeated loud enough to be heard a dozen seats away. Sometimes these receptive people will repeat an entire sentence after the actor whose words affect them. I wonder what sort of a mania that is?—Interview in Chicago Tribune.

Cosmopolitan Cooking.

There is a belief current that whatever can be procured for money can be had in this city, especially if it is anything to eat. The people who flock here from every part of the country are apt, sooner or later, to import their native dishes, and to make them acceptable to gastronomic New York.

New England, no matter how lightly her cooking may be estimated, has had notable success of this kind. Baked beans, pumpkin pie and Boston brown bread are with us. The western man and his pork are known and appreciated. The Frenchman, the Irishman, the Englishman, the German and the Italian can go into any restaurant and find his national food.—New York Evening Sun.

An Old Time Conductor.

We had a conductor named William Ford, who was the most pompous and imposing man I ever saw. He was no good, and the boys called him Windy Bill on the sly, but the hardest of them dared not say anything less than Mr. Ford to his face. He was a big man, and dressed in the best broadcloth and walked about as if the earth belonged to him. One day he walked into the office at a station where my wife and little boy were sitting in the waiting room. As he passed through every one made room for him or tried to show him attention. My little boy watched him quietly till he disappeared, and then he whispered to his mother, "Ma, was that God?"—Locomotive Engineer.

An Old Fort Abandoned.

Fort Marcy, established at Santa Fe, N. M., when that territory came to the United States by conquest in 1846, has been abandoned. The fort marks a place where soldiers have been stationed, more or less continuously, for more than 300 years. Near to the fort is a cemetery, in which lie the bodies of more than 500 soldiers, some of whom fell in battle or yielded to disease or hardship.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The principal causes of death in one year in New York city were: Pneumonia, 5,817; consumption, 5,160; diarrhœal diseases, 3,585; Bright's disease, 3,503; heart disease, 2,287; violence, 1,957; bronchitis, 1,834; diphtheria, 1,369; scarlet fever, 1,221; influenza, 338.

During the Eighteenth century, to satisfy the demands of enthusiastic amateurs, a large business of counterfeiting antique intaglios and cameos was developed. This was assisted by forging the signatures of classic artists.

The remarkable statement is made that there are 10,000 suicides a year in the Austrian army. Either the emperor's soldiers hold their lives very cheap or there are two ciphers too many in these figures.

The World's Largest Telegraph Office.

The biggest telegraph office in the world is that of London. It is located in the general postoffice building and is not accessible to the general public. It contains more than 3,000 operators, and its batteries are supplied by a plant of 30,000 cells, or enough to make three solid glass rows of cells from the Capitol to the White House. This office does more business than any office in the United States. It dispatches its business much quicker and more quietly than our offices do.

Of these 3,000 operators about 1,000 are women. They have a room to themselves, and do their work with American Morse instruments with registers and paper reels. In the other parts of the office all sorts of instruments are used, and the Hughes printing instruments are the most popular. In the big telegraph operating room of Paris 1,000 operators are at work. Nearly one-half of these are women. The day operators work only seven hours, while the night operators work ten hours, but they get bigger pay than those who work during the day.—London Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

Hundreds of Professors.

In the counties of Luzerne, Schuylkill Carbon and Northumberland, Pa., there are 478 men who insist upon the title of "professor." This includes musicians teachers of music, schoolmasters, two sleight-of-hand men, one ventriloquist four sluggers or "professors of sparring," nine dancing masters, two oyster openers and twelve drink mixers or bartenders. Twenty years ago the title was a scarce one in the coal fields. It was worn only by college teachers and it carried weight with it.—Hazleton Sentinel.

A SILVER PALACE.

A New York gold man suggests what would prove an interesting exhibit at the World's Fair. He points out to Secretary Foster that he has it in his power, with the consent of Congress, to construct the most beautiful and magnificent, as well as the most valuable, exhibit the world ever saw, and out of material of which the Government has an enormous supply. It is nothing less than the construction of a silver palace out of the bullion and coin in the Government vaults.

He suggests that 15,000 tons of silver be cast into slabs, of say 600 pounds each, and an inch thick. This would give 600,000 superficial feet out of which could be built the most beautiful structure the world ever saw. It would build a palace 400 feet by 300 feet with a tower 300 feet high, on which could be placed an American eagle with wings of 100 feet spread. A silver palace worth $400,000,000 would be an attraction that would draw millions of persons who always want to see something new and grand. Not over $1,000,000 need be expended in the construction of such a palace, which could be guarded by the army. None of it could be stolen, as the pieces would be too heavy.

The New York gold bug, who is evidently an agent of European brokers, and, of course, opposed to the coinage of silver, says the silver now in the vaults of the Treasury is of no possible use to mankind. He asserts that it cannot be sold, for the law will not allow it, and it cannot be put in circulation, for the people will not take it, and it cannot be used in redemption of the certificates issued against it for the people will then want gold, and therefore it cannot be put to any better use than what he suggests.

While the silver bullion now in the Treasury vaults may be practically useless, it is just as valuable, proportionately, as the gold stored with it. Anybody holding silver certificates can present them and get coin for them. This coin will purchase anything that can be had for gold, as will also the certificates which represents it. The assertions of the gold bug who wants to build the silver palace, are therefore unfounded, and his effort to create a prejudice against silver by declaring that it is useless, only proves that he does not understand what he is talking about.

CHINESE EXCLUSION BILL.

The Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives has reported favorably a bill to exclude Chinese from the United States. It provides that Chinese, other than laborers, wishing to visit the United States temporarily, may do so upon receiving a permit from the Secretary of the Treasury. This clause was inserted to allow Chinese to visit the World's Fair in response to an invitation of our Government.

The bill absolutely prohibits Chinese laborers from coming to the United States, and the clause allowing other than laborers to come was inserted in deference to the Government officials, who invited all nations, including Chinese, to attend the World's Fair. It is expected that the bill will pass the House, and as it might influence California, Washington and Oregon, in which States there is a strong prejudice against Chinese, in the Presidential election, it will probably pass the Senate and be signed by the President.

M. H. de Young of the San Francisco Chronicle, opposed the nomination of Harrison four years ago, on the ground that he had, while United States Senator from Indiana, opposed anti-Chinese legislation, and could not carry a Pacific Coast State, but Mr. Harrison was nominated and carried the whole Pacific Coast. Whether the President still favors Chinese immigration will doubtless be ascertained if the House Exclusion Act is sent him for approval.

GULLIBLE PEOPLE.

At Keokuk, Iowa, Oliver Herbert, a polite young man, organized a branch of a secret order, which he called the Millionaire Association. He sent numerous invitations to young ladies and gentlemen to become members of the order, and they were generally accepted. Herbert, who represented himself as organizing agent of the Association, gave the first degree in the mystic order, the initiation fee being ten dollars. He informed his dupes that another agent would follow him and give a higher degree, which would entitle those receiving it to all the benefits of the order, chief among which was that they would never have to work for a living, as the Association would furnish them all the money they required.

It hardly seems possible that in this day and age people could be deceived by such a transparent swindle, yet it is stated that Herbert enrolled over one hundred and fifty members at Keokuk, and pocketed $1,500. Whether, as was the case in the "Ancient and Honorable Order of E. Clampsus Vitus," which flourished on this coast, thirty years ago, the dupes will take another degree at a cost of ten or twenty dollars each, remains to be seen, but as the "Association has got into the papers and the swindle exposed, it is not probable that many of the would be millionaires will advance beyond the initiatory degree.

There is an old fable of an ass who thought to disguise himself in a lion's skin, but failed to hide his ears, while his roar also gave him away as it was essentially only a bray. The self-styled "descendant of the Romans," should have remembered the story of his illustrious ancestor and in writing a communication, purporting to come as a voice from Italy, should not have indulged in the peculiarities of his fine rhetoric.

A bill was reported in the House yesterday appropriating $50,000 for the construction of a revenue cutter for use in San Francisco harbor.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Railroad Extension—In Sympathy With Garza — Another Indictment Filed Against Edward M. Field.

No Cause for Uneasiness.

WASHINGTON, February 17.—Secretary Foster said this afternoon that there was nothing in the financial condition of the Treasury to cause uneasiness and it was silly to suppose he contemplated the use of $100,000,000 of the gold reserve to meet the current of the Government. He said also that while the present net cash balance of $27,500,000 consisted almost entirely of subsidiary coin and money on deposit with National banks, it did not include the National bank redemption fund of $5,500,000, and the disbursing officers' balances amounting to $25,000,000, both of which are subject to the action of the Department, and should not be regarded as "demand liabilities."

Reciprocity With Mexico Improbable.

CITY OF MEXICO, February 17.—There is no truth in the report that the Mexican Government will grant a concession to the Louisiana Lottery.

One of the most prominent personages in Mexico said recently that reciprocity with the United States was improbable. When asked his reason for his belief, he replied: The United States made attempts to secure exemption from duties, or at least a considerable reduction on American wheat, corn and flour. The McKinley law, however, offers Mexico no important concession, and he thought Mexico would not increase the concessions made to the United States.

Senate Proceedings

WASHINGTON, February 17.—The Idaho contested election case was taken up and Gray addressed the Senate in support of the views of the minority of the Committee on Elections that Claggett and not Dubois was entitled to the contested seat.

Gray's argument was replied to and the title of Dubois to the seat defended by Chandler and Palmer. Palmer said, in conclusion, that he trusted the time would come when such questions could not arise, when people would speak directly in the choice of their Senators.

Without disposing of the resolution the Senate adjourned.

Hale & Norcross Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 17.—Judge Hebbard was occupied to-day in listening to expert testimony for defendants in the case of M. W. Fox, vs. the Hale & Norcross Mining Company and others. C. B. Benham of the Nevada mill was on the stand most of the day relating everything he knew regarding milling operations. He did not think it possible to divert bullion without his knowledge and if there had been imperfect work done intentionally he was unaware of it. The trial will probably consume another week.

Railroad Extension.

DENVER, February 17.—A trust deed amounting to $2,200,000 was filed in the County Clerk's office to-day by N. A. Baker of New York, Director of the Denver Western and Apex Railroad Company. The deed was given to secure bonds for the construction of the road from Denver to Georgetown, whence it will eventually be completed to Salt Lake. When finished this road will be 200 miles shorter than any other from Denver to Salt Lake. It is understood the Rio Grande is at the back of it.

In Sympathy With Garza.

WASHINGTON, February 17.—General Schofield is in receipt of a dispatch from General Stanley, commanding the Department of Texas, giving the names of certain wealthy residents of Texas who are known to have contributed money to the cause of Garza and aided him in various ways. It is also represented that most of the Mexican residents in Texas are secretly if not openly, in accord with the movement.

Annual Meeting.

NEW YORK, February 17.—At the annual meeting of the National Educational Association at the department of superintendents, in Brooklyn to-day, a resolution was adopted on motion of the U. S. Commissioner of Education, Harris to provide for arranging a celebration on the discovery of America in the public schools of the whole country on October next.

House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, February 17.—After the introduction of a few bills and resolutions, the House went into Committee of the Whole on the Indian Appropriation bill. After a long debate on the bill, the House adjourned.

Another Indictment.

NEW YORK, February 17.—Another Indictment was filed against Edward M. Field to-day, charging him with forgery in the second degree, the indictment being predicated on an alleged forged bill of lading.

Five Men Drowned.

CORVALLIS, Or., February 17.—Advices from Yaquina Bay state that Captain Gault and four seamen of the sealing schooner Oscar and Hattie were drowned to-day while attempting to land in a small boat at Nestucca. When near the shore the boat was capsized and all were drowned. The Captain and his men left the schooner in search of seven deserters, who took a boat and left the vessel yesterday.

Arrested for Robbery.

VISALIA, February 17.—William Chris ie, arrested at Dos Palmos, Merced county, for robbing Wells Fargo's office at Dos Palmos, was formerly Superintendent of the Kaweah Colony. He was also wanted on a charge of sending fraudulent matter through the mails. It is stated that he has confessed to the Wells Fargo burglary. He bore a good reputation here.

Silver Men Assured of an Early Consideration of Their Bill.

WASHINGTON, February 17.—The leaders of the contest in the House for free coinage have received from Speaker Crisp assurances that a special order will be brought in the House in favor of the free coinage bill. The Speaker states that he is in favor of the bill being finally disposed of in the House within a reasonable time.

CONRIED'S COMIC OPERA.

An Exceptionally Strong Company.

The lovers of light opera will have a treat on Saturday, February 20th, when Conried's Comic Opera Company will sing the great New York Casino success, Poor Jonathan, at McKissick's Opera House.

Poor Jonathan was written in 1889 by Carl Millocker, the composer of The Beggar Student and The Black Hussar, at the suggestion of Manager Conried, who was particularly desirous of interesting the great musician in the composition of a new opera having an American subject. The plot, if such the opera may be said to have, is laid in New York. Rubygold, an American bonanza king, who is unable to support the responsibilities of his vast wealth, transfers his entire property to his cook, Jonathan Trip, who puts it to the best possible account. The performance is all in the spirit of burlesque, but is controled by the nicest artistic taste, and thoroughly finished in every detail. The music is pleasing and catchy, and the ensemble and numbers effective.

The company is exceptionally strong. The chorus is composed of trained operatic singers, who have been judiciously selected and thoroughly drilled. The cast of nearly fifty people includes Myra Quill Mirell, Fannie D. Hall, Louise Hilliard, Kate Trayer, J. Aldrich Libbey, A. W. F. MacCollin, George M. Herbert, Frank W. Miller and H. L. Rattenberry. The musical conductor is Mr. Maurice Gould.

Grammar in Rhyme.

I wonder how many of you are beginning grammar this year. Here is a little rhyme, old as the grammar itself almost, which will help you to remember the nine parts of speech:

1 Three little words you often see,
Are articles a, an and the.

2. A noun's the name of any thing,
As school or garden, hoop or swing.

3. Adjectives tell the kind of noun,
As great, small, pretty, white or brown.

4. Instead of nouns the pronouns stand,
As I want you to lend me a hand.

5. Verbs tell of something to be done,
To read, count, sing, laugh, jump or run

6. How things are done the adverbs tell,
As slowly, quickly, or well.

7. Conjunctions join the words together,
As men and women, wind or weather.

8. The preposition stands before
A noun, as in or through a door.

9. The interjection shows surprise,
As Oh! how pretty Ah! how wise!

The whole are called nine parts of speech,
Which reading, writing, speaking teach.

Wanted to See the Soldiers.

A wealthy New York lady who has traveled much abroad, but who knows very little about her own country, was in Washington a few days ago for the first time. She was taken to the White House by an influential friend, and through his intercession the private apartments of the house were opened up to her, and she had an exceptional opportunity to inspect the numerous beauties of the dignified but modest mansion. As she was being helped into her carriage on departing, a shade of disappointment was detected in her face.

"Well, what do you think of it?" her friend inquired.

"I must confess to a very keen disappointment," was the reply. "The rooms are all very prettily decorated, and some of them are dignified and impressive, but I am sorry not to have seen the military."

It appeared on further inquiry that this un-Americanized New Yorker had fully expected to find the president's mansion surrounded by a military guard in full uniform, and she was vehement in her assertions that the German way was "ever so much better than ours."—New York Recorder.

Weight of Paper Money.

In the treasury here one day the question came up as to the weight of a dollar bill. Scales of perfect accuracy were brought into requisition, and the surprising discovery was made that twenty-seven one dollar notes weighed exactly as much as a twenty dollar gold piece. The latter just balances 540 grains. However, the bills weighed were perfectly crisp and new. Trial made with soiled notes, such as come in every day for redemption, showed that twenty-seven of them weighed considerably more than the twenty dollar coin. Every paper dollar on its way through the world continually accumulates dirt, so that after a year of use it is perceptibly heavier.—Washington Letter.

Two Men.

Paterfamilias (furiously)—You scoundrel! Why did you elope with my daughter?

New Son-in-law—To avoid the insufferable fuss and nonsense of a society wedding.

Paterfamilias (beamingly) — Thank heaven, my daughter got a sensible husband anyhow! -New York Weekly.

CONGRESS of CATTLE MEN.

A Call Issued for One to Meet At Ogden.

A call has been issued for a convention of western cattlemen to be held at Ogden on the 29th and 30th of April. It is for the purpose of bringing cattlemen together so that they may exchange views and deliberate upon many questions affecting their interests, and in order that a thorough organization may be established, and many of the rights at present denied to the cattlemen of the West may be secured.

The Call states that all persons interested in cattle raising will be admitted to said congress as authorized delegates therein.

Among the questions to be discussed will be transportation, brands, mavericks, fencing, water rights, range privileges, stock-yards, breeds and breeding of cattle and quarantine. The States and Territories embraced within this call are: Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, California, Oregon, Montana, Washington, Texas, Kansas, Colorado, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, New Mexico, Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Arizona.

LENT RESTRICTIONS.

An Edict Modifying Them When the Grip is Prevalent.

Pope Leo XIII has issued an edict modifying the restrictions of Lent in all parts of the world where the grip is prevalent. This edict has been in the hands of the Archbishops and Bishops for a number of weeks. It is so worded as to leave the order inoperative should the disease have disappeared prior to the beginning of Lent. But as the grip is still prevalent in most parts of Europe and America the edict will be read in all the churches on both continents on Sunday, February 28th, Lent beginning March 2d and ending April 17th. It is similar to the one issued by the Pope last year, and is intended to obviate the possibility of a too rigid fast on the part of many persons whose health demands the generous use of nourishing foods, and yet who would have regarded any departure from the rules as an act of disobedience.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

The Constitutionality of the McKinley Admistrative Act is to be tested in the courts. The first move has been made in the United States Circuit Court at Chicago by filing a motion to dismiss the appeal of Collector Clark from the decision of the Board of General Appraisers, assessing certain duties on dress goods belonging to Locke, Huleatt & Co. The motion is on the ground that the Administrative Act is void.

BLAND'S REPORT.

An Able Plea for the Remonetization of Silver.

Representative Bland prepared the report of the majority of the Committee on Coinage, in favor of silver. It is quite voluminous and contains many extracts from newspapers and public reports. The following are a few extracts from the report:

THE DUMP OF SILVER.

"The familiar warning that free coinage would cause shiploads of silver from other countries, to be brought and dumped at our mints in exchange for our gold is still urged. How can this be when under the bill or proposed law the shipload of silver brought to our mints by a foreigner would be coined into standard dollars and these dollars be returned to him? But he could not go to our Treasury and demand gold for them, nor could he compel one of our citizens to swap a gold dollar for a silver dollar.

THE FOREIGNER WOULD LOSE.

"If the American citizen gives him a gold dollar for a silver dollar, that is a voluntary trade that no law ought to interfere with. Should the foreigner take coin notes for his bullion instead of coin the same thing happens. He can take his coin note to the Treasury and demand its redemption; but the note is redeemable in coin, and the Secretary of the Treasury could hand him back the coin struck from his shipload of bullion. The foreigner then would ascertain that he had committed a blunder in bringing silver to our mints where it is worth three cents on the dollar less than it was at home and that he loses this three cents and the cost of transportation besides. What then will he do with his money? He must either invest it in property here or go home with it. He could not buy gold with it unless gold and silver were at par. In this case there could be no reason for preferring one metal to the other. If gold went to a premium he would have to pay the premium on his exchange, thus entailing additional loss in sending his shipload of silver.

SHREWD OLD WORLD NATIONS.

"If he invests his shipload of silver money in our property and business enterprises it would at once stimulate industries, awaken enterprises and give us a healthy business and sound currency. What more could be desired? Every shipload of silver thus brought here and invested in productive wealth would have a two fold effect. It would bring unexampled prosperity to this country, and panics in the old world. Business there would be paralyzed for want of money. Prosperity here and stagnation in the old countries would force shiploads of their people to come to this country in search of their money. The nations of the old world are aware of this, and they would see that no such thing occurs. They know the advantage the free coinage of silver would guarantee to us, hence their uniform predictions that calamity would be the result, instead of prosperity. They are not in the habit of giving us trustworthy advice as to the course we should pursue in this matter.

"The truth is that a conspiracy in the old world, planned and successfully carried through there and here, was aimed to confine the debt-paying medium of the nations concerned to the single metal, gold. For this purpose the par of centuries was broken, gold was decreed to rapidly rise in value, thus adding fifty per cent. to the value of credit, enriching creditors, public and private, at the expense of debtors and tax-payers, enormously depressing the value of labor and the products of labor, as compared to notes, bonds and mortgages.

TERRIFYING WORDS.

"The words 'free coinage of silver' send a thrill of terror to the promoters of this conspiracy and the beneficiaries. They know full well that when this great Government thus throws its weight in the silver balance the world will again be restored to implicit faith and confidence in the future safety of silver as the money of the world. The greatest people and the greatest metallic power in the world can never again be disturbed. The conspiracy would be exposed and defeated.

"It is this past phase of the issue they fear; not the swapping of ship loads of dollars of silver and dollars of gold. It is the restoration of the bimetallic par; it is the skeleton of defeated fraud and avarice that lurks in the closet of the gold palace that we are called upon to meet in battle on the free coinage question. The bushwhacking warfare waged against the restoration of silver is the most potent exhibition of the weakening of the enemy.

FARMERS AT A DISADVANTAGE.

"The fact that nearly the whole of our exports of agriculture go to European gold-using countries, to be sold in competition there on the silver basis, is cited by the comic writers of this country and the old world to show the disadvantage of the American farmer in such competition. The history of this country shows that as silver falls, as compared with gold, so in the same ratio the prices of our farm products fall.

"To say that silver is low is tantamount to saying the price of cotton, wheat and other farm exports is depressed. The reason is plain. Countries having this silver standard avoid, as far as possible, liquidating foreign debts in money, for the reason that silver is, as compared with gold, depreciated. To settle foreign balances, therefore, in silver, entails a loss of the difference of exchange in the value of silver as compared to gold, its difference being the divergence between the commercial value and the coin value of silver.

The report goes on to state that the bullion purchased will not restore the parity of the two metals. "Bimetalism does not, it is said, tolerate the idea that one metal, gold for instance, shall be set up as a standard by which the other metal, silver, shall be purchased or measured. This is gold monometalism. It fixes gold as the measuring metal on the silver valuator. Bimetallism means that each metal shall be a standard with itself. The free coinage of silver means that all silver bullion of 412½ grains standard, or 371¼ grains pure silver, shall be worth a dollar in lawful payments. The stamp of the Government is affixed to it solely for the purpose of a guarantee of its weight and fineness.

WHAT IS A DOLLAR?

"It's the bullion that in fact is legally monetized. This being so the bullion, 371¼ grains, or 412½ standard grains of silver, is worth a dollar because the law so declares. All that is necessary to enforce the law is to get the Government stamp as to the weight and fineness. Therefore silver bullion under free coinage can not fall below the value at which it is declared by law to have in all payments. It cannot fall below that value which the Government gives it at the mint, because the mint is an open market for all of it at fixed prices.

"This may be said of gold, yet other countries make such a demand for gold as to make that metal more valuable than silver. They may in time make such a demand for silver above gold, but at our mints they remain the same in debt paying power. The committee contends that this country can coin the two metals freely and at par, and cites the financial history of France as illustrating this point."

"NICK OF THE WOODS."

A Crowded House and a Good Performance.

A crowded house last evening greeted the first appearance of the Carson Dramatic Club in Reno in the play "Nick of the Woods." The general verdict of all present was that it was the best amateur performance ever witnessed in Reno. There is a vast deal of blood and thunder in the drama, it is as old as the hills, and yet when as well rendered as last evening, ever interesting. There have been many professional theatrical companies that have played in Reno whose performances were no smoother, whose acting in general was not better, and whose drama was much less novel than "Nick of the Woods." It is quite a new feature, the introduction of Indians upon the stage, and judging from last night's debut of the tribe of Washoes, many an inglorious McCullough or Booth sleeps in his wigwam, not dreaming the latent genius that lies hid within his breast. The stake dance, where the noble red men held high carnival about "Nick of the Woods," who was tied to a stake preparatory to being tortured, was a feature so novel that if it could be presented in the East would make the fortune of a theatrical company. The skirt dance is no where in comparison.

The character of "Nick of the Woods" was acted by J. E. Mack. Mr. Mack is possessed of a superb bass voice, and is an amateur of no mean attainment. His acting was strong, and left little room for adverse criticism.

Roland Forrester is, to an amateur, the most difficult part to render well in "Nick of the Woods." It was, however, very fairly presented by Mr. Tyrell. Mr. John P. Meder as Richard Braxley, was good. Frank Murphy did well as Abel Doe, but the part was not prominent. One of the best pieces of acting of the evening was Roaring Ralph Stackpole, by Frank Bryant. The character was sustained throughout and the conception good.

E. B. Zabriskie as Tom Bruce, gave a most pleasing characterization of the part. He had, perhaps, the most natural stage presence of any, and delivered his lines with all the ease of an old actor. Tellie Doe, played by Miss Blanche Davis, was as neat and delightful a conception of a naturally good part as one would wish.

The play was under the immediate management of Mr. John P. Meder, and of Geo. T. Mills, who is also the Treasurer of the club.

What a Bachelor Editor Requires in Woman.

The editor of the Elko Independent is a bachelor and this being Leap Year he gives the following short list of the desirable qualities which he requires in a wife. "A woman who is tidy and tasteful; a woman with a temper like an angel; a common sense matter of fact woman, and yet furnished with a disposition tinged with sentiment, loving, gentle, and withal gifted with an intellect which will delight in hearing her lord and master dilate upon his favorite theme whether it be politics or religion."

IN SLEEP THAT WAKES NOT.

Charles D. Williams Has Crossed the Silent River.

Yesterday afternoon at 10 minutes past 3 o'clock died Charles D. Williams, better known to every one in Reno as "Beech" Williams. The announcement of his death, although momentarily expected for the past few days, was a shock to all who knew him, and few there are who did not. He had lived almost all his life in Reno. Years ago he learned the printers' trade, and for a long time was a typo in the JOURNAL office. He spent two years in Honolulu, but all the rest of his life since childhood was passed here. He was a rare, strange soul, with a character generous to last and was true and unassuming, with something in him that made men love him. He, who, when after death, shall have so much sorrow felt for him, as that one simple heart that is now stilled forever, must needs be among those of true friendship blessed.

"August Flower"

I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. The doctors told me it was chronic. I had a fullness after eating and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. I suffered frequently from a Water Brash of clear matter. Sometimes a deathly Sickness at the Stomach would overtake me. Then again I would have the terrible pains of Wind Colic. At such times I would try to belch and could not. I was working then for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Cor. Irwin and Western Ave., Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. Finally I used August Flower, and after using just one bottle for two weeks, was entirely relieved of all the trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I would like to refer you to Mr. McHenry, for whom I worked, who knows all about my condition, and from whom I bought the medicine. I live with my wife and family at 39 James St., Allegheny City, Pa. Signed, John D. Cox. ⑬

DISTRICT COURT SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for Washoe County. The State of Nevada sends to M. P. Mury greeting:

You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Mary P. Mury as plaintiff in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons, exclusive of day of service, if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover a decree of this Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between you, M. P. Mury, defendant, and Mary P. Mury, plaintiff and for a decree awarding the care, custody and control of Edith Mury, the issue of said marriage, to plaintiff upon the grounds

First—That you on or about the — day of April, A. D., 1890, willfully and without cause, deserted and abandoned plaintiff, and ever since said time have lived separate and apart from her without any cause or reason, and against her consent, and

Second—That for more than one year immediately prior to the commencement of this action you have failed, refused and neglected to provide for plaintiff the common necessaries of life, and which said neglect, failure and refusal was not occasioned by ill health poverty or misfortune which you could not avoid by ordinary industry, you having the ability to furnish said common necessaries of life for plaintiff.

All of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said County, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded.

SEAL — In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said Court at Reno, this 22d day of January, A. D., 1892. O. H. PERRY,
Clerk of the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.

WASTE LAND ON LONG ISLAND.

Hundreds of Thousands of Acres of Undeveloped Territory.

It is perhaps needless to remind the reader that there are some 447,000 acres of waste lands in Suffolk county, Long Island. They are now covered with stunted pines, scrub oak and underbrush. If tillable these barren acres are advantageously situated for the experiment of colonization. The question as to their possible fertility has been answered both ways, and it is rapidly appearing, if not already demonstrated, that those who denied their productiveness under proper cultivation have been in error. Years ago Governor John A. Dix called the attention of the New York State Agricultural society to these lands.

Since Governor Dix wrote many successful experiments in cultivation of these lands have confirmed his judgment. None of these can have more interest for the sociologist than that of the Bohemian colony, situated midway between Ronkonkoma and Sayville, in what is now a fertile garden spot that bursts unexpectedly on the view—an oasis in a dense and dreary wilderness of dwarfed oaks and prolific underbrush. This community was formed a score of years ago under circumstances the most unpromising. Near the picturesque little round lake called Ronkonkoma, so deep that local legend pronounces it unfathomable and whose outlet has never been discovered, lies Lakeland, a hitherto wild tract of scrub and furze, on which it was proposed to establish a colony. Among those who were induced to purchase land there in the days when romantically worded advertisements described it as an Eden, were three Bohemian families who had arrived in this country but a short time before.

The heads of these families were John Kertochvil, Joshua Wavra and Joseph Honla. They were honest, credulous folk, unfamiliar with the wiles of the "boomer," and they purchased their land unseen on his representations. But when in the waning autumn they and their wives and little ones beheld Lakeland, its only harvest frost tinted, sun dried, crinkling leaves, their hopes sickened and they would have returned to New York if they could. But they were without means to support themselves in the city. Hence, indifferent where it might be found, they sought more promising territory toward the south, and after wandering a distance of three miles they knelt in the woods to implore divine direction. By common impulse they were moved to choose the spot where they thus knelt as the center of their settlement.

The men plodded back to Lakeland, and thence laboriously brought their personal effects, the more important of which were a canvas tent and a cooking stove. When shelter was thus secured and an attempt made to kindle a fire it was sorrowfully discovered that there was not a match in the colony; and all Bohemia laughs to this day when the story is told of John Kertochvil seizing his musket and firing the charge into the grate, thus providentially kindling the fire while running the risk of blowing the precious stove to pieces.

The men found work on the Great South bay near by, or on the farms of the southside gentry; and before long each family dwelt in its primitive hut, and men and women unitedly labored to clear the land and prepare it for a crop. The narrative of their struggle would be monotonous: Enough that it was successful. Gradually their numbers were re-enforced by other families of their countrymen, until there are now fifty-two houses and 250 settlers in the colony. Pretty little dwellings they are, too, surrounded by trim gardens and patches of land yielding crops of corn, potatoes and other vegetables as bountiful as can be found anywhere.

The area of Bohemiaville is 1,300 acres, 300 of which are under cultivation. A commodious school building and a public hall evidence the progressive spirit of the villagers, some of whom are old Catholics and others Hussites. Both sects have neat chapels, the Hussite element espousing the forms of episcopacy under the superintendence of the Rev. John H. Prescott, rector of St. Ann's Episcopal church, Sayville. Although English is alone taught in their school, they cling to their mother tongue and to the customs of fatherland, while all ardently cherish the memory of John Huss.—Harper's Weekly.

A Queer Way of Choosing a Wife.

It has remained for a young clergyman, a missionary, to take the palm for a phlegmatic choice of a wife. Having decided that it would be advisable to be accompanied to the mission field by a wife, he undertook to select her with his head, not thinking it necessary that his heart need be considered in the matter. He first made a list of attributes desirable in the wife of a missionary, then, as he went about with the different young women of his acquaintance, he watched for the development of any characteristics corresponding with his record.

When he discovered any he marked a point opposite the young woman's name. When the time came to make the choice he offered himself to that young woman who had achieved the highest percentage in this unique table, and, alas! was accepted. The only redeeming feature of the transaction is his admission made some years after his wedding to a friend. "My wife," he says, "was never courted before her marriage, but she has been assiduously since."—New York Times.

The Camel's Endurance.

In a paper on the camel Herr Lehmann refers to its relations to temperature and moisture. Neither the most broiling heat nor the most intense cold nor extreme daily or yearly variations hinder the distribution of the camel. It seems, indeed, that the dromedary of the Sahara has better health there than in more equably warm regions, though after a day of tropical heat the thermometer sometimes goes down several degrees below freezing point and daily variations of 33.7 degs. centigrade occur.—Nature.

Man's Duty to Man.

The father may think to hide certain parts of his character from his child, not wishing him to imitate them, and may give him precepts that he has never followed, but the child absorbs what he fancies is concealed and forgets the words which contradict it. Commands and exhortations may produce or restrain certain acts, but they are powerless to inspire emotions or create desires. Often they have a reverse effect.

To give every one his due, to refrain from taking unfair advantage, or in any way enriching one's self at the expense of another, are supposed to be duties which are simply to be inculcated and obeyed, yet how is the desire of gain, so intense in many minds, to be made to yield when it conflicts with these duties? Chiefly by crediting within the breast a stronger desire for justice and integrity. The love of rectitude, the faith in honor, the desire to deal fairly and squarely with all men, must be aroused and strengthened before any one can be thoroughly and truly just. And the same is true with regard to every good quality.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Dear Innocents.

Some Detroit ladies, not more than a thousand miles from a barrel of salt in front of a Woodward avenue grocery store, recently organized a debating club for the development and benefit of the rights of women. It was their first experience, the dear things, so they appointed a committee to go down town and get the needed stationery, etc. When the polite and affable clerk had about finished selecting the articles they had put down in a memorandum book, he inquired of the spokeswoman of the party:

"You will want a 'Cushing's Manual,' won't you?"

"A what?" she asked sharply.

"A 'Cushing's Manual,' madam," he answered, moving out of range.

"No, sir," she said, with severity, "this society is exclusively for ladies, and if we want anything at all in that line it will be a womanual, sir. How much do we owe you?"—Detroit Free Press.

Rowed Forty Miles for Amusement.

Willis Holly, Mayor Grant's secretary, used to amuse himself by rowing around Staten Island whenever he got a holiday from his arduous newspaper work a few years ago. He did not row very fast, but he always made a complete circuit of the island. I think the distance is about forty miles; at any rate, I know that Mr. Holly had to rise before daylight in order to get home with the cows in the evening. It is a feat that he used to speak of with a proud, beaming eye, and I never wondered at it. I must say, however, that in the course of seven or eight years' consideration of the subject, I have never been able to understand exactly why a man should care to row round Staten Island.—Blakely Hall in Brooklyn Eagle.

The Water in Utah's Great Lake.

Salt Lake is by no means a saturated solution of salt, yet it is five or six times as rich in salts as the ocean, and nearly as strong as the Dead sea. In summer it contains between 20 and 22 per cent. of salt, the saturation point not being reached until the salt forms a little over a third of the liquid. There are all through the great basin numerous saline lakes and ponds, but none of the size and importance of this in Utah. Not infrequently they are shallow and entirely disappear during the dryness and heats of summer, leaving to mark their sites only a stretch of some acres—or it may be miles—of clay or mud, entirely covered with salt.—Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine.

The whitebait, the sprat, the sardine and the anchovy are the smallest of the finny tribe, and yet the collection and sale of these form important and very profitable industries.
